

requiring technical expertise in Geographic Information Systems or related technologies often pay considerably more.